A fishing holiday boat race, in which the loser was required to swim back to shore, cost the life of Robert Todd, 23-year-old Atlanta lawyer, shortly after noon Monday at Lake Arabia, two miles south of Lithonia.

Three companions, all of Atlanta, saw young Todd apparently become atricken with cramps and sink in 12 feet of water nearly 100 yards from the lake banks. They were unable to help him.

Early Monday night the body had not been recovered and Lithonia police officers were planning to drain the water by breaking the dam. Monday afternoon more than 75 persons dragged the lake bottom for six hours but could not locate the Todd's law partners, H. M. Sessions and J. B. Hamilton Jr., who reside at 1008 Columbia avenue, N. E., and another friend, William Groves Jr., also of 1008 Columbia avenue, told DeKalb county police of the tragedy.

Bloc To Work Vigorously for Legislation To Remonetize Metal.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(P)—
The senate silver bloc openly defied the expressed wishes of President Roosevelt today and decided to work vigorously for legislation looking toward remonetization of the metal.

The result, administration leaders said tonight, was that possibilities of compromises which appeared after the senators had discussed the problem with the chief executive on Saturday, were now appreciably diminished.

At an informal meeting, the group today voted unanimously to support the Dies bill, in mandatory form, including the amendments heaped upon the measure by the senate agriculture committee.

The bill proper, which has passed the house, would establish a commis-sion with the duty of negotiating for sales abroad of American agriculture

Anglo-Italian Agreement Monday with the beginning of negotiations in three capitals.

"TOO LAZY TO TURN OVER IN BED"!

Seen as Result of Conference Between British and Italian Officials.

By the Associated Press.
The despair felt by some statesmen last week over the admittedly dark European outlook lightened gotations in three capitals.

Fulvio Suvich. Italian foreign office undersecretary, talked with British leaders in London. Informed circles expected the outcome to be an Anglo-Italian agreement on policies for reorganizing the League of Nations, reinstituting arms negotiations, and bringing Germany and Russia into the League.

Foreign Minister Louis Barthou. of France, conferred with Polish declared:

"The Franco-Polish alliance cannot be dissolved. Our friendship remains intact and is necessary for the stabilization of peace in Europe." Thus he spiked a feeling held in some quarters that a new German-Polish 10-year non-aggression pact would hart Franco-Polish relations. Premier Mussolini, of Italy, and Premier Micholas Mouschanoff, of Bulgaria, discussed the possibility of beinging Bulgaria into a semi-alliance concluded recently by Italy, Austria and Hungary. Foreign Minister Ivan Volkoff, of Hungary, also participated in the conversations.

Members of the world disarmament conference steering committee postponed until late in May a meeting set for this month. The action was taken to allow the powers more time to reconsider the troubled arms situation.

Consul General Yokoyama, in Geneva, issued a statement that Japan will oppose foreign assistance to China "under whatever form" which may disturb peace, because Japan must "fulfill her duty as an international defender of the peace in eastern Asia."

ing conversation:

with me?

By EDWARD F. PAYNE, President of the Boston Branch of the Dickens Fellowship. (Copyright, 1984, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

On her visit to America with her famous husband in 1842, Mrs. Charles (Catherine) Dickens made a most favorable impression on everyone she met. (Editor's Note: It would appear that Dickens and his wife called a truce upon their con-nubial infelicity, or at least outward expressions of it, dur-ing this visit. At any rate, no hint of it seems to have suggested itself to those who met them, and Mrs. Dickens was, as Mr. Payne shows, at her best.)

To more than one Bostonian who kept a diary in those diaristic days, when Charles and Catherine Dickens were in Bos-ton, she seemed a cut above the author in birth and breeding. There is no doubt that she was a pretty, rosy-cheeked, young Englishwoman, even then the mother of four children, who was quite content to remain in the background and look on, with tears of pride and pleasure in her blue eyes, at the fuss being made over her brilliant husband.

Visitors Fooled By Couple's Pose.

There is every proof that they were a most devoted couple. They held impromptu receptions in the parlor of their suite at the old Tremont House in Bos-ton, and the social and literary elect flocked in to be received. Henry W. Longfellow wrote to his father in Portland, Maine: "Mrs. Dickens is a good-natured, mild, rosy young woman, not beautiful, but amiable." And Dr. Palmer, acting editor of the Boston Transcript, said: "His lady is most beautiful and accomplished and appears worthy to be the partner and com-panion of her distinguished hus-band."

(Editor's Note: The fact seems to be that Dickens invariably took care that out-siders should never realize the barriers of various sorts that existed between his wife and himself. Even in his private correspondence he was scrupulous about this. Speaking of his wife in a letter of February 10, 1855, to Maria Bead-nell Winter, his first sweet-heart, he said):

"Mary Anne Leigh (a friend of their youth) we saw at Broad-stairs about 50 years ago. Mrs. Dickens and her sister, who read all the marriages in all the pa-pers, shrieked to me when the announcement of hers appeared, what did I think of that? I calmly replied I thought it was time."

Also, as to his meeting Maria after all these years, he suggests Mrs. Dickens' assistance: "When I return (from Paris)

Mrs. Dickens will come to you and arrange a day for our seeing you and Mr. Winter—to whom I beg to be remembered. We will have no intruder nor foreign creature on any pretense whatever in order that we may set in without any restraint for a tremendous gossip."

John Kenyon, of London, the Dickeneses to Charles Sumner, which preceded them to Boston, and in which he mentioned Mrs. Dickens in this fashion: . "Her mild, unexacting character and manners will only make you the more disposed to be kindly and useful to her. I wish as they go on their way that she in particular may have an opportunity of knowing quiet friends—not to ask them to large parties, but to afford those little kindnesses and petty services which are so pleasing and sooth-ing to a female in a strange land . . . I have promised Mrs. Dickens that you will prove no lag-gard cavalier during the few days they will remain in Boston."

Friend Foresaw Course of Events.

Here was an early indication of a close friend's knowledge of that indifference in temperament that was later to part Kate and Kenyon foresaw that Dickens would be lionized and that the lion would forget his mate on many occasions. So he was asking brilliant, courtly, popular young Charles Sumner, a well-known figure, at 30, in London as well as in Boston, to keep a friendly eye on the modest, re-tiring little lioness.

Sumner, no doubt, did his share, but it turned out that the hospitable Bostonians enthusias-tically included Mrs. Dickens in all their entertainments, and, at one of these, a young lady of the period noted this in her journal:

Mrs. Francis Alexander, wife of the painter who executed a por-trait of Dickens on this visit, a picture now to be seen in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, took Kate around through the va-

(P)—Secretary Wallace said in an address today that if the nation is to recover it is necessary that "some agency of society do whatever planning is necessary to prevent the suicide of society."

Speaking at the home of J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture in the second administration of President Cleveland, Wallace paid tribute to the ideals of Morton, founder of Arbor Day, and related the late secretary's forestry experiments to economic experiments of the present.

"There is not much resistance now-adays to attempts to modify nature," Wallace said, "but when you get over into the realm of human relations, into economics for instance, and propose new rules for the economic game in the interest of the many, then it is that you hear groans of dismay from

Answer to Yesterday's Problem-A, Impossible; B, Possible.

Georgia Fields And Streams By H. A. Carter. .

I forgot to mention the acquisition of two fine anakes of the same species. Don Eyles brought an Elaphe guttata from St. Simon's Island the other day and not long afterward Fred Barkalow showed up with another from Cobb county. These are splendid snakes; although I haven't seen Don's specimen yet I know he would collect nothing that was not fit for preservation.

occasional specimens of the corn snake, as this species is known, are vicious and will not tolerate handling. I have had two that were anything but friendly. The one Fred brought in, however, has made no attempt to bite. I saw a snapshot of Don's snake peacefully curled around his neck in the most friendly fashion, so it is safe to assume that his specimen is docile also.

To describe the corn snake in any To describe the corn snake in any but the most general terms of color would be extremely misleading. Let us say, then, that there are about 50 small spots on the back, which are deep red in color, over a background of tan. The deep sulphur yellows of the side and the variable marking of the lateral surfaces need not enter into the description. The under surface of the body, however, will be found to be very striking, for there is a pattern of black streaks toward the side arranged in alternating series.

Georgia has two other species of this ranged in alternating series.

Georgia has two other species of this fine genus, which numbers among its species some of the largest snakes of the United States. Elaphe obsoleta obsoleta and Elaphe obsoleta confinis are found here and there is one record for Elapha quadrivittata. There is one sure-fire way of placing a snake in this genus; examine the scales on the back and if you find there are small and very weak ridges down the topmost seales while those on the sides are smooth, you have a species of Elaphe. The exact species has to be determined by consideration of other points.

There is one failing of these snakes points.

There is one failing of these snakes that make them economically undesirable specimens, and that is their inordinate fondness for eggs and young birds. I opened up a few Elepha obsoleta two years ago and found four or five half-grown quail in each one. They were sent to me from a hunting preserve with a request for stomach examination. I was able to report that the diet of those examples was 100 per cent quail, but that it probably did not represent the normal diet for the species as a whole. They will do as much damage to quaif as a set of Natricids will do to the fish crop. Natricids will do to the fish crop. Sportsmen should learn the markings of these species and reduce their numbers somewhat. Do not exterminate them, because we do not know the whole story of the economic value as vet.

FOREIGN TRADE HURT

America's foreign trade has struck a snag because of the government taboo on loans to nations which defaulted on their war debts. S. C. Lamport, of the Lamport Export Company. of New York, said in Atlanta Monday.

He, with Curtis Dall, son-in-law of the president, has just returned from the meeting of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, in Charleston. He was the guest Monday of A. R. Dorsen, general manager of the J. M. High Company.

In his reference to the defaulting nations which have come under the ban of the Johnson bill, Mr. Lamport had particular reference to Russia. That country, he said, could use American textiles, and in return could supply the United States with linen goods.

"But our hands are tied and foreign goods.

"But our hands are tied and foreign trade will languish unless something can be done and done quickly," he added. He said that he had the as-sistance of Senator Brookhart, who had suggested that a special delegation call on the president and try to get relief.

"Russia has bought $800,000,000 worth of goods in this country, and has paid all but $20,000,000, and will pay that when it comes due." he said. He said that George M. Peek, economic adviser to the president on exports, should be given a freer hand. He paid high tribute to W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie.

Russia is competing with Japan, and successfully in the textile goods market, Mr. Lamport pointed out, and with the co-operation of the United States could go a long way.

THE ARMS SOUABBLE.

With Great Britain and Italy endeavoring to bring about a fourpower agreement on disarmament, France's attitude is again proving a stumbling block to the efforts to avert another arms race by the leading nations of Europe.

Last week Great Britain, to all intents and purposes, washed her hands of the situation brought on by the uncompromising attitude of the French government, but now British diplomats are again actively co-operating with Mussolini in the endeavor to reach a basis on which the claims of France and Germany may be satisfied.

Hitler continues to be adamant in the demand that Germany be permitted to increase its armament; France's position is that if Germany arms she will increase her "defense" forces. In the latter event, Italy on her southern border will undoubted ly feel it necessary to increase her military establishments, and Great Britain would be forced to strengthen her armed forces.

Thus a new armament race would be launched-all because France, whether with reason or not, fears that an armed Germany inevitably borders by the forces of her neigh-

THE CODES ARE WORKING.

In view of the importance of the steel industry as a generally accepted barometer of the conditions of American business, facts and figures contained in a recently published review of its operations for several months under an NRA code are of widespread interest.

Every effort of the police should be exerted in detecting those responsible for the heartless and dangerous spreading of rumors Sunday of an accident in which many had been killed and the turning in the United States will be better and more soundly able to operate and the account of the operation of armament trusts. It is a fascinating story and if it did not involve a gamble with millions of human lives, it might be called the greatest adventure of modern times. day of an accident in which many had been killed and the turning in of several false fire alarms.

As a result of the rumor that a fatal accident had occurred, hundreds of distressed people gathered at Grady hospital, ambulances were caused to race to various points, while apprehension over the safety of loved ones existed generally throughout the city.

An even worse offense against the public peace were the false alarms that called the, fire department out ten times between midments. This, it is clear, elevates the war-trusts to the position of a super-parliament above the parliament of the rumor to lives.

The failure of the powers to come to an agreement on a progressive reduction in the machinery of war, must be squarely laid to the influence of the lobbyists and propagandists of the armament firms. They brook no interference when profits are at stake and they are powerful enough to force their will upon individual statesmen and even upon governments. This, it is clear, elevates the war-trusts to the position of a super-parliament above the parliament of the world.

Such incidents have been all too frequent in Atlanta in the past and the police should leave no stone unturned to bring the culpable persons to justice.

If they are detected, they should be punished in a stern manner which will be an example to any others who might be tempted to resort to such dangerous "jokes" in future.

Such incidents have been all too frequent in Atlanta in the past and they sold there is opposition. But even Czecho-Slovakia cannot object if Mr. and Mrs. Hapsburg come back to live in Austria. The border states could not object when the old imperial uniform was restored in the army and they could say nothing when the national anthem was changed back from "God Save Austria" to "God Save the Emperor." Dollfuss is moving step by step. And Zita and Otto know that some day and that not so far distant, they'll be sitting on top of the world once again.

Nazis Fight in America.

A clash, the first I fear of many to come, between nazis and Jews, has taken place in America. A pitched battle was fought. Many were on the outlaws, and it is evident that it will not be long before they are again in the hands of the law or dead from bullets fired by pursuing officers.

ordinary coryza : Acute coryza (distemper, head "cold," acute catarrh, acute rh Acute pharyngitis (sore throat).

Acute peritonsilitis (quinsy). Vincent's angina (trench mouth). Acute sinusitis.

Scarlet fever (or scarletina). Masles (tubeola, morbilli). Acute laryngitis (hoarseness, loss Acute anterior polimyelitis (infantile paralysis).

Acute epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis (spotted fever, brain fever). Croup.
Pertusis (whooping cough). German measles (rotheln).

Chicken pox (varicella). Smallpox (variola). Pneumonic plague.
Tuberculosis (consumption, phthisis)
These are all recognized at present

These are all recognized at present as respiratory infections, the germ or virus of the disease entering the body through the lining of nose or throat, and the infection spreading from one person to another in the secretions from nose and throat. In some of the illnesses named there is usually no marked coryza at onset—say in smallpox, though even chickenpox and smallpox are known to be respiratory smallpox are known to be respiratory infections and to spread just as does diphtheria or tuberculosis or ordinary coryza, and not from the skin rash, Measles, for example, is most likely to spread among children in school or elsewhere in close contact in the three or four days of the stage of invasion, before any rash apears, when the child has only the aymptoms of a "feverish cold." This is one, and a sufficient, reason why no child with a putative "cold" should ever be allowed to remain in school. EXCUSE WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Japanese dare not say it openly, but they are coming around now, whispering in the ears of our officials, that their new gate-keeping policy in China. was not directed at us, but at France. The Japanese say they had inside information about a new loan France was making to China. This loan ostensibly was to strengthen Chinese banks, but the Japanese assert the money really was going into munitions. The security for the loan was to be certain concessions in the interior of China and on the Yangtze river.

Everyone knows China never would be able to pay the loan, so such a transaction would only mean that the French were purchasing new foreign concessions in China.

SUSPICIONS Our people are suspicious about such whispered diplomatic explanations, especially when these come from the Japanese. The Japanese record for diplomatic veracity is considerably under 100 per cent.

Our official far eastern experts are more inclined to believe that the Japanese were shooting at the League of Nations. The League's far eastern commission is to meet early next month to decide what to do about Japan's conquest of Manchuria. All that does not explain, however, why Japan specifically at-tacked American trade relations with China.

BACK-TRACKING Our state department crowd has heard from Japanese sources that Japan will not give us an opportunity to respond to her new Chinese policy. Apparently the matter is to be left in its present unofficial condition. official announcements of the policy are to be sent out from Tokyo.

With freedom of the press "abridged almost universally today," Secretary Hull said the American people were to be congratulated on having a free press. Its service, he said, is "of incalculable value."

Of the Associated Press, he said:
"For collecting and disseminating accurate news, information of news value, and carefully selected news not calculated unnecessarily to create misunderstanding or discord between peoples or governmits, your organization has built up a splendid reputation. All honor and all success to yours as to every other impartial news agency."

With the prefatory observation that he voiced his individual views. Secretary Hull discussed the administration's recovery policies and appealed for patient co-operation.

New Methods.

"It was necessary to employ new methods," he continued, "but those methods were forged from the common desires of communities the continent over. We enthroned no dictators; we made no secret trades with private, self-interest groups; we merely drew together the different and scattered forces of democracy into a common effort, openly conceived, openly discussed, openly chosen."

Secretary Hull's declaration for the restoration of international trade was received approvingly by government spokesmen in France, England and Italy.

Rome officials, however, questioned his statement that economic and social rehabilitation should be effected according to policies of sound liberalism while preserving the fundamentals of popular government. They held that such rehabilitation could better be achieved through a corporative state in which the fundamental necessity is a strong totalitarian government.

Hull's comments on freedom of the press came at a time when French newspapers were smarting under former Premier Daladier's accusation that "four-fiths" of them are on the government's secret pay roll.

The fugitives were believed to have sped away from Little Bohemia and near-by resorts in two automobiles, a Ford sedan and a coupe. License numbers were broadcast, sheriffs, policic and federal operatives patrolled every road in this region of Wisconsin, a heavily timbered, sparsely settled country dotted with lakes but traversed by few highways.

At noon, alert police at St. Paul.

30 miles southwest of here, spotted a Ford coupe bearing one of the Wisconsin licenses the Dillinger gang was sing. A deputy sheriff tried to halt the car. The three men riding in it fired at him and sped on. A score of shots were exchanged.

Definite evidence that one of the mobsters was wounded, probably in the back, was seen in the blood found on the seat of the coupe, which was later abandoned.

For hours after the siege of Little Bohemia the resort was cut off from outside communications. Dillinger had torn out the telephone wires as he filed. In his haste to escape with his luggage, including gaudy paidmans, silk shirts and undergarments.

Parade and Mardi Gras Features Will Begin at Peachtree and Baker at 7 O'Clock Tonight.

The Line of March

The Atlanta Better Times Parade and Mardi Gras will move at 7 p. m. from the intersection of Peachtree and Baker streets.

The line of march: Peachtree and Baker street, down Peachtree to Whitehall to Mitchell, and disband at the city hall.

The parade will be reviewed from the reviewing stand in front of the Winccoff hotel. Marchers will execute "eyes right" at the reviewing stand.

One of the largest parade assemblages the city has known—an army of thousands of men and women marchers—Monday was awaiting the starting signal for the Atlanta Better Times Parade and Mardi Gras.

Promptly at 7 o'clock tonight the serpentine mardi gras procession, presenting a medley of bands, drums, kings, queens, and princesses, and the tinsel and color of towering floats, will twist itself through the city's main streets.

The order of "march, rain or shine!" from Parade Marshal Theodore Goulsby, left no room for post-ponement of parade plans.
Only in case of heavy downfall will the parade be abandoned tonight, M. I. Slagsvol, parade chairman, and Milton D. Crandall, director of the parade, said.

A baby empress was added Monday to the royal company, which is to sit

SALE OF MOONSHINE

Moonshine liquor seized in federal raids will not be sold at auction in Georgia as first planned, although bonded liquors, if seized, may be so disposed of, W. E. Page, collector of internal revenue, said Monday.

A sale of liquor seized at Augusta, was held up, Mr. Page said, when regulations from Washington gave the bureau of industrial alcohol jurisdiction over seizures of illicit stocks. He added that, as he saw it, the regulations empowered him to sell imported liquor that may be seized in Georgia. It will be up to the buyers to square themselves with the state law, he said.

Death by Gas Waits For Treasury Intruders

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(A?)
Death by poison gas lurks in huge steel doors the government is setting in place on new vaults in the United States treasury.

A super-burglar who by some miracle penetrated halfway through the 30 inches of metal would die quickly and horribly in cloud of gas generated by chemicals concealed in the doors.

The vaults—big enough to contain all the monetary gold stock in the country as well as huge treasures in silver, currency and securities—will be completed in September at a cost of $390,000.

They will form as impregnable a monetary fortress as any in the world. Walls are built of concrete and matted steel, 27 inches thick, lined with metal plates reputedly impervious to tool or torch.

When you pay the price of a Knee-Action CHEVROLET car, you naturally want genuine Knee-

Action and all that goes with it. You want the new gliding ride at its smoothest, safest, and best. You want simple, foolproof, and trouble-proof construction-the huskiest, sturdiest front-end you can buy. And, of course, you want shock-proof steering-it is the natural companion of the gliding ride. You pay for these things, and you want them all-but you can get them, in the low-price field, only from Chevrolet. The reason is simple. Fully-enclosed Knee-Action wheels are costly to build-so costly that only Chevrolet, world's largest . builder of cars, can afford to make the necessary huge investment in new machinery-and still keep prices among the lowest of the low. Only Chevrolet has the resources and the assured volume of sales that permit this extra production cost. Chevrolet does it because Chevrolet believes that, to KEEP ON SELLING THE MOST CARS, YOU MUST KEEP ON BUILDING THE BEST. And judging from the popularity of the 1934 car, America agrees with Chevrolet.

Merchants To Discuss PRINCE GEORGE HOME AFTER AFRICAN TOUR

5-Day-Week Proposal A five-day retail business week for Atlanta this summer will be considered at a meeting of the retail merchants at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The session will be held in Hall No. 2 of the Chamber of Commerce building and not at the Atlanta Athletic Club, asserroneously announced.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 23.—
(P)—Prince George, youngest son of King George, arrived back home early today aboard the liner Windsor Castle following a long tour of South Africa. His royal highness left immediately for Windsor in the Prince of Wales' plane which had been sent to meet him. In the autumn the prince of Wales' plane which had been sent to meet him. and not at the Atlanta Athletic Club, as erroneously announced.

Establishment of the five-day week would require the closing of all retail stores either on Saturdays or Mondays during June, July and August, under the proposal to be considered by the merchants. Sponsors of the plan are said to be hopeful that its adoption will be extended throughout business and governmental offices generally.

The merchants will meet this afternoon on the call of J. P. Allen, head of the local code authority for retailers.

FOOD, TALMADGE HAT STOLEN DURING TEA

A large quantity of food and one of Governor Eugene Tal-madge's famous hats were stolen Monday, afternoon when the gov-ernor and Mrs. Talmadge enter-ernor and Mrs. Talmadge enter-tained delegates to the convention of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs at the mansion on The Prado. The loot was recov-ered by detectives.

Detectives S. W. Roper and R. C. It is his wisdom and judgment that have taken scraps of advice from a thousand sources and welded them into a unified national policy. That some people would call this national policy by bitter names is natural. It has been necessary to deny some selfish interests in this country the right to exploit the people, but in the last analysis democracy knows its friends, the people are not deceived.

"The people discovered and adopted the phrase The New Deal" in the president's acceptance address. Their support made possible its realization in law. In a year they have felt substantial improvement under it, and in my judgment they will give it the assurance of a long and significant future."

In October, 1932, on the Sunday Franklin D. Roosevelt, the nominee of the democratic party for president, reached Atlanta and motored to Warm Springs, returning to the Biltmore hotel that night, a Constitution reporter made the trip back to Atlanta from Warm Springs with Professor Moley.

There, on the back seat of the car, Moley talked about the campaign, in which he and the other Roosevelt advisors were up to their ears. And Moley made a prediction which was borne out the next month at the polls.

"Do not be surprised if Mr. Roosevelt carries every state in the Union," he asserted, "though we see the possible loss of six states." And Mr. Roosevelt did carry all but six, the exact number Professor Moley saw as the possible total loss.

She obeyed, his hand still in hers, shocked at the exhaustion she saw in his face. After the first flash of triumph, he had felt in her tumultuous return, his mind had cleared. He saw at once all the advantages he might derive by a policy of magnanimity and shifted his campaign.

"My dear, you have shown me very little consideration," he said sadly. "Do you regard me as your enemy?"
"It is going to be difficult," she faltered. "You are hurt and resentful It will be hard for me to make you understand."

Twenty years later, a new discovery at the sandpit brought forth legbones and other remains of a man. We are not sure that they belonged to the same person as the jawbone, but it is quite possible.

The remains are spoken of as "the Heidelberg man." Some scientists believe that he dates back about 250,000 years ago; but others figure that he lived longer than that.

yielded the bones of wild animals. These include the lion, the elephants and the rhino.

Europe today does not contain living elephants or rhinos, except at zoos and circuses; but long ago such beasts roamed about Germany. France, Italy and near-by lands. Their skeletous have been found in dozens of places; and southern Europe was the home of the hippopotamus as well.

The climate in Europe was warmer during the period when those beasts were common. Then came mighty ice sheets, or glaciers, which spread over much of Europe; and the climate became so cool that the big beasts died out or moved away. It appears that "land bridges" once existed between Spain and Africa, and between Italy and Africa; so some of the animals may have escaped to the warmer lands.

It would be interesting if we knew about the manner of life of the Heidelberg Man. How did he obtain his food? What kind of a home did he have? Did he fight against the elephant and the rhino,

We may guess answers to those questions; but we do not have the proofs needed to give safe answers.

Cave people who dwelt in France and Spain have left so many remains as to give us a fairly good picture of their daily lives; but the ways of the Heidelberg Man are a mystery. What do you suppose he did when he saw fierce beasts? My guess is that he got out of the way.

---without diet or exercise

I was so fat people laughed behind my back. I tried everything I had ever heard of to reduce . . . diet, exercise, purgatives . . . but nothing helped. Purgatives weakened me. Exercise left me exhausted. And I lacked the will power to diet when all my friends were eating the rich, sweet foods I adored.

Then, when I'd almost civen me. That in brief is what thousand.

my friends were eating the rich, sweet foods I adored.

Then, when I'd almost given up hope, I learned about a simple corrective for abnormal obesity, known and prescribed by physicians the world over . . . a corrective that would change the food I ate into energy instead of excess fat. I found out that this simple corrective was put up, in convenient tablets containing the right quantity, by one of the best-known medical laboratories in America,

And so I took Marmola—4 tablets a day—and quickly my excess fat began to disappear. What delighted me even more was the way I felt as

ROYALTY IN A DIAMOND SETTING.

Let the umpires gayly Beat the bally drum! On the ukulele Let the coaches strum!

For Henry from Hawaii in the moonlight far away Is in a diamond setting here and ready for the fray.

> He may be a terror To the pitching clan; But he's made an error In his baseball plan.

In any really regal guise he'd take the town by storm, But, shucks! his royal raiment is a Philly uniform.

Before the Phillies stumble In the baseball fight, Give the Prince a tumble While he's still in sight.

Ere the Phillies strike their stride (which means a downward rush)

Cheer the Prince and let us see a truly royal flush! -By John Kieran, New York Times.

LINES TO SPENCER ABBOTT.

Well, really, Spencer, Old Bean, you simply MUST come over to tea. Ever since Barbara Hutton married that Prince and sailed away, beating the process servers, I have had a yen to get close to royalty.

And what a guy you are! Here, all of a sudden, I find you have been associating with royalty for years. In fact you have been giving orders to royalty. And I never knew it.

Spencer, Old Chappie, you are certainly the first Cracker manager who knew anything about royalty. We have had some managers here who knew the royal flush. But a guy who knew His Nibs is something else. It wasn't until I read Jack Kieran in the New York. Times that I knew you had been hand-in-glove with How was I to know you and Prince Henry K. Oana, now of the Philadelphia baseball club and last year with you at Portland, was a prince? You never told me. Spencer, old Swack, I'll have to have you out to the women's clubs for this. They go for a guy who has been pals with a prince. Yes, sir. I will bill you right now for a few talks on the subject, "My Memoirs of My Association With His Majesty, Prince Henry K. Oana, of Hawaii."

It seems the Philadelphia baseball outfit is making quite a howdy-do about Prince Oana. The New York papers are writing a lot about it. And here you are in Atlanta. It sort of shows you up, Spencer. No sense of news values. The idea! Being pals with a Prince and not mentioning it!

Will you have lemon or cream, Spencer? In your tea?

THE HAWAIIAN PRINCE.

Prince Henry K. Oana, who is a rookie outfielder for the Phillies, is a graduate of the Portland club, which Spencer Abbott managed for a brace of seasons.

Seems as though the Prince was a free agent on the coast. He was a .250 hitter. Spencer Abbott signed him and when the present Cracker manager was done with him the Prince was batting .350. He was good enough for the Phillies to grab him at the end of Spencer Abbott recalls the fellow quite well. But Spence Abbott is democratic. He didn't hold it against the fellow for being a Hawaiian prince. He gave him just as good a chance as he would anyone else.

The low-down on the Prince is that he is really a Prince. He is from Waipahu, Oahu, and he was a great football player in high school. And quite a drop-kicker. The Prince indignantly denied he kicked field goals barefooted. He wore shoes.

IN AN INTERVIEW.

In an Interview in New York he said that he:

1-Played the ukulele very well indeed. 2-Didn't play the steel guitar so well.

3-He swims some. The water is just 100 yards from his home in Waipahu.

He knows old Duke Kahanamoku. The Duke is an old hero of mine. He was swimming in the Olympic games of 1912. And winning for the United States. He was the greatest of them all in his day. And now the Duke is running, or shall we say managing, a filling station. Prince O.na's comment is, "He should have turned pro when he was on top. He waited too long." There is a whole column in that. Maybe two or three of them. "He waited too long." Now he's working in a filling station.

When he was "tops" he was the toast of the world.

IT WAS TY COBB AND ABBOTT.

It was Ty Cobb, the Augustan, and Spencer Abbott, now the Cracker skipper, who first started ballyhooing the Prince.

It seems the Prince has such a royal pedigree he makes the Brothers Mdivanis, who are marrying all our American heiresses seeking titles, look like a scratch

And he is a good ball player. Ty Cobb recommended the Prince to the Giants. So did Spencer Abbott. But John Mc-wrestling card Friday night, April 27, at 8 o'clock.

Seating 3,500, over twice its capacity last year, the big arena also has adjacent parking space for 5,000 cars. It is located at Delta place and Fair street, across from the James L. Key golf course, where the old Fair Street arena was operated by the same management last year.

Hugh Winn, Georgia and southern light-heavyweight champ, will meet Eddie Elsea, Denmark, known as the "Great Dane," in one of the headliners. Winn weighs 11 pounds least than Elsea, the Dane having 198 pounds of wrestling beef.

Bulldog Gust (Gus Pappas) will tackle Freddie Lassiter in a 90-minute limit match, two out of three falls.

The 45-minute opener brings two local favorites to grips. Wayne Coleman, of Roswell, and Whitey Patterson, of Panthersville.

Tickets for the opening show can be obtained at the Tumlin stand in the Hurt building, or orders can be telephoned to Dearborn 3932 for reservations.

JACKETS BEAT IN FIRST GAME

Stribling Hurls Great Game and Hits Homer for Tech.

By Jack Troy.

Those Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets came pounding down the ninth-inning stretch like a derby champion yester day to nose out Oglethorpe, 3 to 2, in the first game of the city championship series at the Rose Bowl. Frank Anderson's Oglethorpe team had given Lefty Dixon an early one run lead and the Petrels held ten-aciously to this margin going into the ninth.

actously to this margin going into the ninth.

Dixon collided with Umpire Dorfan in the fifth and sustained a twisted ankle in the fall, but he got up after Mike Chambers, the popular Georgia Tech trainer, had inspected the injury and continued to baffle the Jackets with his dipping delivery.

APPARENTLY OVER.

The ball game apparently was Oglethorpe's after Jimmy George came in to take McNenny's short centerfield blow in the ninth and Hoot Gibson, who had singled, was out attempting to steal second.

to steal second.

But of a sudden the Oglethorpe infield, which had played spotlessly and had two fine double plays to its credit, exploded. Buster Fischer crossed in front of McGinty on Hardin's slow roller and McGinty muffed it. Pug Boyd promptly singled to left and then Eddie 'Anderson dropped McGinty's low throw on Stribling's grounder attempting to force Boyd at second.

Skiene Boharts estede up, with a Skippy Roberts strode up with a grin on his face and banged a hard single to center, scoring Hardin and Boyd with the deciding runs. OVER QUICK.

OVER QUICK.

It was over like that, just as suddenly as the rally began. The crowd was largely a Tech crowd and it was out of bounds when Roberts delivered the winning wallop.

Jimmy George had a momentary lapse on Roberts' hit and as he finally got his hands on the grass-cutter after bobbling it, he threw to third instead of attempting to cut off the winning run. It is doubtful, however, that he could have headed off the flying Boyd.

FIRST RUN.

Oglethorpe's first run came in the third inning when Moon, attempting to fall out of the way of a pitch, caught the ball on the handle and came out with a double down the third base line. Dixon followed with a single to score Moon.

The Petrels scored again in the fourth when Vance tripled and came home on Clark's long fly to right.

Steady Sam Stribling, who limited Oglethorpe to five hits in a beautiful pitching performance, walloped a home run in the fifth for Tech's first run.

It was a ringing drive that carried all the way to the bank and Stribling snatched off his cap and circled the bases in very good time indeed.

RALLY CUT SHORT.

Tech started off on a rally in the seventh, but a great double play, Anderson to McGinty to Moon, put an end to that.

The Jackets got to Lefty Dixon for 11 hits, but five of them came in two innings, the fifth and ninth. They got at least a hit an inning with the exception of the eighth.

Pro-Amateur Events Boost Golf Schedule

Spring and Fall Meets Added To Major Program for Atlanta Courses.

By Roy White.

Two new events were added to Atlanta's major tournament program when a spring and fall professional versus amateur event was placed on the schedule Monday afternoon at a meeting of the directors of the Atlanta Golf Association, in the office of Dargan, Whitington & Connor, in the Hurt building.

The other four tourneys are the Atlanta open, the Atlanta junior, the Atlanta senior and the annual city amateur.

Atlanta's senior golfers will lead the way and will hold their annual event over the new East Lake course during the second week in May.

The qualifying rounds will be played on May 8 and 9, with match play slated for May 10, 11 and 12. All matches will be over the 18-hole route. T. T. Williams is the defending champion.

The Atlanta open will be played.

Wright Plays Good Game; Casey Will Hurl

By Jimmy Jones.

Everything in the book and one play that might just as well have been left out happened to the Crackers yesterday as they battled through nine innings to drop the series opener to the Chattanooga Lyokouts here, 7 to 6.

It was a good ball game in a lot of ways. The Crackers hit the ball hard and hustled commendably enough. But they encountered just enough of the tough breaks and added a bit of their own skullduggery to bring about their downfall in the ninth inning.

The unnecessary item came in that inning when Jacobs whirled and tossed to second base in an effort to pick off Bobby Reeves who wasn't more than four feet from the bag. The ball was a trifle wide of Byrne James, trickled on into center field and Bob Reeves came home with what proved to be the winning run.

WRIGHT TRIPLES.

Young Taft Wright, the "kid" of the outfield, who played a fine game, opened the Crackers' ninth with a triple and scored on Joe Palmisano's infield out, but the Crackers finished without further scoring and one run abort.

The wide toss to second was the Cracker misplay in the ninth that spoiled the broth. But Reeves wouldn't have been on second to begin with had Big Moose Clabaugh, who charged in to get his low liner to left opening the inning, been able to hold onto the ball after doing a somersault catch. It went for a double

Thomasville Turns in Sensational Time for Derby Route

FINISHES FAST AT 2.07 3-5 TIME

Other Horses Strengthen Ratings for Kentucky Classic.

LOUISVILLE, April 23.—(49)—
Thomasville, a gelding regarded to date as one of the darkest of the "dark horses" among the Kentucky Derby nominees, stepped to the front at Churchill Downs today with the best workout of the season over the full Derby course.

H. P. Headley, of Lexington, owner of Thomasville, watched him rattle off the full mile and a quarter in 2:07 3-5, and announced that Thomasville, starter, barring 2:07 3-5, and announced that Thomasville was a certain starter, barring accident. It was a speedy workout over the entire course, quarter in :24 2-5; half in :48 3-5; three-quarters in 1:13 4-5; mile in 1:40, and mile and an eighth in 1:53 3-5. Baby Stare, not a Derby nominee, hooked in for the last seven-eighths.

Other workouts at the Downs to day included a three-eighths in :35 4-5 by Ridge Mor in preparation for a longer move tomorrow, and the full Derby route by War Pledge in 2:16, breezing. At Douglas Park Beau Tod stepped three-quarters in 1:17 3-5 and Rich Phil went the same distance in 1:16.

The Churchill Downs management today announced that Governor Ruby Laffoon will present the gold cup to the winning Derby owner on May 5. the winning Derby owner on May 5.

Kentuckians are inclined to believe the two horses to beat in the Derby are Alec Gordon's maiden, Sir Thomas, and Dixiana's crack filly, Mata Hari. These favorites seem to hold their followings despite Sgt. Byrne's victory in the Paumonok handicap at Jamaica, Discovery's sensational mile workout at 1:37 4.5 at Havre de Grace, and Spy Hill's showing in New York today. Riskulus, western favorite, disappointed many of his followers when he was defeated in the Texas Derby by Plight and Hickory Lad.

Sgt. Byrne is expected here from the east Wednesday morning, while other eastern candidates await testings in the Chesapeake handicap Saturday.

There has been an undercurrent of the Giants would need all the brilliant paints with a gain.—and they might not get it.

But, in the main, Bill Terry's young about where they left off in 1933, with every arm clicking. Even rival clubs as good this season as he was a year ago, the Giants would be hard to handle.

It so happens the willowy left-hander with the ducking shoot looks every bit as good this spring as he ever looked in his career. And this applies to the other three pitchers.

The real test will not arrive until the Giants head west and their crack pitching staff is thrown against the

TWO OUT AND THE BASES FULL

Two out and the bases full—
Three runs to win—and two to tie—
And then, amid the boding lull,
Looms Jim Foxx of the batting eye;
I watch the pitcher writhe and whirl And shoot one from his mounded pen-I see the white pill dart and curl As Foxx's bludgeon swings-and then-

In that one moment through the stands There runs, before the groans and cheers,
The taut grip of ten thousand hands,
The pulse leap of a thousand years;
The one deep, throbbing human call Above all science, war or love, As crashing bat meets speeding ball, Or speeding ball meets waiting glove.

Here end the sorrows of the race, All want and misery and crime; Where care must seek another place, Where sin must hide another time Here, where the heart's wiped clean and dry, The drudge soul lifted from the pit
For those who wait for the reply—
A strike out—or a two-base hit?

THE PENNANT TEST.

"When a ball club has three pitchers who can win ball games, it should win a pennant," Lefty Grove told me a short while back.

From Hubbell, Schumacher, Fitzsimmons and Parmelee, the Giants should have three pitchers good for 20 games and the fourth won't be

Results in the continuous players fail to improve because they give too much attention to form and it is claimed that results can be had without form.

These claims are misleading. Form to the extent of making sure of the fundamentals is indispensable. However, one shouldn't always think about form.

Use your practice sessions to take inventory of your mental and physical processes. When you go out to play you should not be conscious of more than the efficiency of your swing as as whole and the pointing of your chin. This is what is intended by the advice to forget form while playing.

There are so many poor wrestlers nowadays that the public doesn't really know wrestling. The public has come to like hitting and elbowing and kicking and that sort of thing.

And as an old college wrestler I must disagree with those who say that a toe hold or a headlock doesn't hurt. In fact, I think I can still apply a toe hold which will make the average citizen call "Uncle." There may be some acting in the ring. But any time a fellow is tugging at a toe there is some pain. And an arm or the noggin, when twisted, doesn't feel so pleasant.

But for wrestling tips you may take this. Never miss a match in which Shikat, Londos, Sauer, McMillan, Garibaldi, Paul Jones. Ernie Dusek, Zaharias, Slagle, Sammy Stein and Paul Jones, Ernie Dusek, Zaharias, Slagle, Sammy Stein and

By JOHN L. COOLEY. NEW YORK, April 23 .- (AP)-Financial markets leaned toward the down side today. Common equities quietly drooped on balance, bringing a small net loss to the averages, and bonds, with the exception of United bonds, with the exception of United States governments, were uneven. Wheat, corn, oats, cotton and silver finished lower.

Traders in stocks seemed to have been influenced to some extent by fresh automotive labor difficulties, while rails saw their own employemanagement situation no nearer a settlemen, and stocks representing both of these major industrial divisions sagged. Transfers totaled 1,126,260 shares.

Metals became firmer with signature of the copper code and decision of the senate silver bloc to stand for mandatory white metal legislation.

Gainers included Twin Cities Rapid Transit common and preferred, which responded to news of first quarter net income in contrast to a loss last year; the senior issue was up more than 9. General Asphalt, Coca-Cola, and Penick & Ford common stocks worked against the trend.

Dollar exchange took a brace, which made told exports to Europe unprofitable.

made told exports to Europe unprotitable.

Reports on trade were rather cheerful. The steel industry begins the week at 54 per cent of capacity, another post-August high, and a rise of 3.7 points since the beginning of last week. Many companies are actively filling contracts placed by motor car and container makers, and the steel industry looks for still higher levels in the near future. Current trends in the steel business are contra-seasonal, for April usually sees the beginning of a letdown.

The federal reserve board reported increases for March in industrial production, factory employment and pay rolls, the seasonally adjusted index of manufacturers and mineral output showing a 3 point rise for the month.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—There appears to be a reasonable doubt as to whether Monday's trading afforded sufficient technical correction to permit the immediate resumntion of the advance.

BEER & CO.—There was continued evidence in Monday's session of a strong undertone and knewing investment demand.

COURTS & CO.—Business indices indicate a continuing tavorable trend, and if the one or two radical bills at present pendin in congress can be quashed, it looks as if the market should go to higher levels.

COTTON OFINIONS.

FENNER & BEANE—We are inclined to look for a sagging market pending developments at Washington which are proving ments at vasington wearisone to average traders.

HUBBARD BROS. Of TO DOBBS &
CO.—The decline we have witnessed over the last two weeks continues to improve the technical position of the market and put in a position to respond readily to any buillain news when it appears.

NEW YORK, April 23.—(P)—Except for further evening-up of May contracts in preparation for possible delivery notices on Wednesday, trading in cotton was quiet today with prices lower under liquidation and scattered selling. July ranged from 11.61 down to 11.57, closing at that figure with the general market finishing steady at net declines of 8 to 12 points.

Opening prices were 9 to 12 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables. May liquidation was fairly heavy and there was some southern and New Orleans selling. Offerings were taken through some houses with foreign connections.

This proved sufficient to steady the market after the call and prices worked up 3 or 4 points from the lowest during the morning. No aggressive buying interest developed, however, and later fluctuations were narrow and irregular, with the May liquidation or switching into later deliveries, the chief trading feature.

May sold off to 11.45 in the late trading, while October declined to 11.70 and closing quotations were within 2 or 3 points of the lowest on most positions.

A little selling was reported early within 2 or 3 points of the lowest on most positions.

A little selling was reported early on reports of favorable weather in the south over Sunday, and according to some observers, there may have been a little further liquidation by inflationist traders on week-end reports regarding the attitude of the administration toward mandatory legislation of that character, or on the easier ruling of foreign exchange.

Houses with Japanese connections were again credited with buying to fix prices while there seemed to be small orders on both sides of the market.

Vy VICTOR EUBANK. NEW YORK, April 23 .- (A)-The oling of inflationary enthusiasm aparently acted as a spur to United tates government securities today but the majority of corporation bonds perversely, drifted irregularly lower.

Secondary rails and industrials were subjected to some profit-taking. The utilities about held their own. The trading volume dwindled under realizing and transfers totaled only $14,934,000, par value, compared with $13,344,000 last Friday. The average for 60 domestic corporate issues declined one-tenth of a point.

There was a turnover of some $3,800,000 in the federal list, most of which was accounted for by the treasury 3s, which advanced 9-32nds of a point to equal their high for the year at 99.29.

A new crop of strike troubles in the automotive field did not tend to bolster the market. At the same time, another jump in steel production was a cheerful note.

The losers of fractions to around a point included some bonds of Postal Telegraph, Alleghany Corporation. American Water Works, Baltimore & Ohlo, Central Pacific, Columbia Gas, Erle, International HydroElectric and International Paper.

Fyerign obligations were quiet and somewhat mixed. Secondary rails and industrials

Market Outlook By MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, April 28 .- (UP)-Wall Street sentiment tonight apparently was drifting with the tides Judging the market as a whole is be Judging the market as a whole is becoming a lost art. Many brokers are centering their comments on individual groups, even though the optimistic background prevails.

The market today reflected this. Motors declined on the adverse labor situation in the industry. Silver stocks advanced on prospects of a determined fight for mandatory silver legislation. Wheat and cotton declined because of diminuition of inflation talk and stronger dollar. The stock market generally drifted, with prices irregularly lower.

Tonight inflation talk was seeking the shelf on which it has rested for several months. Foreigners today, apparently, believed advices Wall Street heard Saturday that the government would not increase the gold price at this time. In fact there were reports current in Wall Street that the sharp drop in the dollar Saturday was the result of a foreign raid on the American currency, designed to force the administration to take inflationary action. When this failed, foreigners lost interest. The dollar fationary action. When this failed, foreigners lost interest. The dollar sature and strength rapidly in early trading today, although some gold currencies showed rallying tendencies in light trading this afternoon.

VIEW OF BROKER.

The view of the conservative element was expressed by one broker to inght who said:

"The stock market bill still hangs heavily over the Street. We look for that measure to go through within the next week. In that event we should be set for a good rising market around the first of May, Every indication points to that view."

around the first of May. Every indication points to that view."

Meanwhile industrial news was benefited by steel production report of the American Iron & Steel Institute which placed current capacity at 54 per cent. a rise of 3.7 points in a week and the highest rate since August 8. Demands from the motor car industry, the canning companies and users of "household" steel currently are foreing production high. Heavier steel production is erratic.

OTHER FACTORS.

Other factors before the market included:

Easiness in commodity markets and indications of a drying up of trading is not ready to accept, that more of a reaction than has been noted so far is necessary before any rally of pro-portion can get under way. (Copyright, 1934, by United Press.)

The J. M. High Company is showing for the first time in Atlanta the new deluxe models of Hotpoint electrical refrigerators in their booth at the associated Woman's Clubs' Electrical Show, being held this week at the city auditorium.

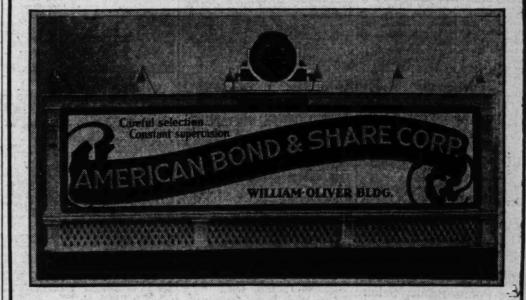

Considerable interest is being manifested in the High electrical booth and Hotpoint refrigerators are the center of attraction. They have all of the outstanding qualities and utility features that have been offered to the public for many years in the famous line of Hotpoint ranges and other Hotpoint electrical appliances.

J. W. Lawton, manager of High's electrical department, states that this refrigerator is one of the sensations of his department and is most enthusiastic over the new deluxa models.

Fulton County Board To Meet on Finances

Means of increasing county revenue so that the $254.000 deficiency necessary for the year's budget may be meat are to be discussed this afternoon at a special session of the board of county commissioners. A one-half-mill tax restoration measure is expected to be decided upon, and it is probable that salary reductions and personnel slashing also will be found necessary.

Chairman George F. Longino and Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the finance committee, have both expressed the opinion that all three measures probably will be found inevitable before the county can meet its obligations, in view of the $300,000 per year which has been requested by the federal government for relief purposes. It is pointed out that the restoration of the half-mill which was lopped off by the commission last September will net the county only $116,000 and will leave a large balance still to be made up.

forts in his cell while he was speculating what the savage queen would order done with him. . . . To the south another jungle beast crouched in a rock

As the new day dawned, the lion arose and stepped out into the bright sunlight. It was the great lion with the golden coat and black mane that we have seen before. He sniffed the morning air, stretched, yawned, and looked about over the vast domain, his tail twitching nerveusly. . . .

"So you are a wild man!" Phobeg demanded. "How wild are you?" Tarzan turned slowly toward the speaker, recognising thinly-veiled sarcasm in Phobeg's voice. For the first time he saw his companion in the light of day. And what he saw caused him to pause and consider before he answered Phobeg.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"With my bare hands," boasted Phobag, "I take men like this, by the head and neck. Then crack! Their spines break. Did you ever see a man like me?" "No. No." admitted the ape-man. It was then four warriors came and awung the door of the cell open. "Come with us," said a guard, "both of you."

Johnny Weissmuller in "Tarzan and His Mate," coming to Loew's Grand Friday

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

HOW FAST ARE YOU DRIVING?

When you've driven for several hours at a high rate of speed in the country, you lose, to some degree, your ability to judge speed. When you slow down, even slightly, you seem to be just loafing along. You come to a town and slow down. You may even cut your speed in half, and think you are crawling along, when in reality you are still driving at a dangerous rate of speed on a busy city street. As a result of your error in judgment, you may cause an accident.

Y.W.C.A. Advisors Feted at Supper

Girl Reserve advisors, the volunteer leaders who contribute valuable time and thought toward carrying on the Y. W. C. A. adolescent program, will be entertained at an informal picnic supper this evening from 5 to 7 o clock in Mrs. F. J. Henry's garden, 2096 Ponce de Leon. The Girl Reserve committee will serve as hostesses and will be assisted by Miss Anne Prid-

She is altogether unlike her older sisters who love a good time with young people and have it. This child does not seem to care for going out with boys. She prefers to stick around home with me. In many ways she is remarkable: she is a lovely housekeeper and a good cook. She has the sweetest sort of disposition, is considerate of old people and someone is always telling me what a good girl she is. When I try to encourage her to make dates with the boys she protests that they all want to do the things she disapproves, drinking, smoking, petting and the like. She is very fat and highly sensitive about it. I wonder if this could have any bearing on her shy and retiring habits. Lately I have been thinking that she is fitted to be a trained nurse. She is well educated and has great sympathy with the sick and suffering. Should I encourage her along this line?

Answer: No doubt this daughter's shyness and tendency to stick around home is greatly exaggerated by her overweight. Anything that makes a young girl conspicuous is likely to render her sensitive. With a little encouragement she can be induced to diet and nobody but one who has been fat knows what reducing can Granting that a firl has a natural aptitude for the things that nursing involves, the profession should offer her a great and glorious opportunity for a useful and happy life. In additional things the course in contact dition to this she comes in contact with a great army of men, both doc-tors and patients. Recommendations from the executive board were read and indorsed as follows: First, that each member of the club pledge herself to plant one or more dogwood trees and to influence others to plant dogwood; second, that each member take an active part in sewing for the children's ward at Grady hospital, with Mrs. H. G. Greer as chairman; third, that this club, through Mrs. Forrest Smith, chairman, beautify the playgrounds of the second nursery of the Atlanta Child's Home, every member pledging flowers, shrubs, plants and bulbs to further this project; fourth, that this club go on record as having proposed and perfected plans for forming a past-presidents' club; the accumulated dues to be used for some worthy still the fat one feels the reproach In this frame of mind a girl can't be at her best. Most young girls are happier if they have some congenial life work or profession. None is nobler than nursing and none provides a broader field of opportunity for talents of every sort, domestic and social. SANDERS AND WILSON

IN RUN-OVER ELECTION BATON ROUGE, La., April 23.— (P)—The long vacant Louisiana sixth district congressional seat will be filled tomorrow when the district's electors choose either State Senator J. Y. Sanders Jr. or Commissioner of Agriculture Harry D. Wilson to succeed the late Representative Bolivar E.

After delay, political dissension and two elective contests that didn't count, the end of the district's extended efforts to pick a representative was in sight tonight as Sanders and Wilson, survivors of a first primary a week ago that narrowed down a five-candi-date field, voiced final appeal for sup-port for the democratic nomination, equivalent of election, in a second primary.

With Mother's Day just a little way off, here are some articles that every mother would like and that really can be done in no time. At that it's a design that lets us get a few steps ahead of mother nature. Hollyhocks in April—and made so simply. The flowers are formed as many quilts are of but a circular piece of material gathered and, in this ease, attached only at the center. A touch of simple embroidery completes the design. The motifs are especially attractive for a cushion, bird cage cover, scarf and other accessories.

Culbertson on Contract By ELY CULBERTSON,

Evpert Vs. Tyro.

The following hand, played in recent Howell duplicate match, offers a striking illustration of the differ-ence in the methods of expert and average players: South, dealer. North and South vulnerable.

All of the expert players sitting in the South position, without exception, opened the bidding with one heart. There is a growing tendency among the more advanced players to bid a four-card major before a five-card minor, especially when vulnerable, on hands of this type, the purpose being to avoid reversing the suits, which automatically "crowds the bidding" and, does not allow an early "sign off." When South bid one heart West sensibly decided to trap, and therefore passed to await developments. North, of course, bid one spade; East passed, and South bid two diamonds. West, still trapping, passed again and North did likewise. East's holding, of course, does not justify reopening the bidding even on suspicion.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am wor ried over my 20-year-old daughter. She is altogether unlike her older sisters who love a good time with young people and have it. This child does not seem to care for going out with boys. She prefers to stick around home with me. In many ways she is remarkable: she is a lovely housekeeper and a good cook. She has the sweetest sort of disposition, is considerate of old people and someone is always telling me what a good girl she is. When I try to encourage her to make dates with the boys she protests that they all want to do the things she disapproves, drinking, smoking, petting and the like. She is very fat and highly sensitive about it. I wonder if this could have any bearing on her shy and retiring habits. When I try to encourage her to make dates with the boys is she protests that they all want to do the things she disapproves, drinking, smoking, petting and the like. She is very fat and highly sensitive about it. I wonder if this could have any bearing on her shy and retiring habits. Lately I have been thinking that she is fitted to be a trained nurse. She is well educated and has great sympathy with the sick and suffering. Should I encourage her along this line? Answer: No doubt this daughter's shyness and tendency to stick around home is greatly exaggerated by her overweight. Anything that makes a young girl conspicuous is likely to render her sensitive. With a little encouragement she can be induced to diet and nobody but one who has been fat knows what reducing can 38 BEAUTIFUL acres DeKalb county. The Idlewood Amusement Park. her appetite.
You see the fat person advertise her weakness to the world. Every-body that looks at her knows that she can't resist the starch and the sweet and everybody who can resist it despises her a little for her indul-gence. She knows this and though the comments may be disguised as jokes, even though the friends and acquaintances refrain from comment, still the fat one feels the reproach in their glances and is shamed.

In this frame of mind a girl can't be at her best. She knows that the boys compare her with the slim sis-ters and that they much prefer to date the girls who are slim and trim; so she sets up a defense and pre-tends that she doesn't care for dates. No doubt she is eating her heart out over her inability to be popular. Get hold of a good conservative diet that is recommended by a doctor and pur-suade the daughter to stick to it until she is reduced to proper weight.

FLOWER SPRAYS.
Pattern 5129.
With Mother's Day just a little way off, here are some articles that every mother would like and that really can be done in no time. At that it's a design that lets us get a few steps ahead of mother nature. Hollyhocks in April—and made so simply. The flywers are formed as many quilts are of but a circular piece of material gathered and, in this case, attached only at the center. A touch of simple embroidery completes the design. The motifs are especially attractive for a cushion, bird cage cover, scarf and other accessories.

In pattern 5129 you will find a motif for an 18-inch pillow (this can be cut and the sections used on other articles(and four additional sprays: directions for making the flowers and illustrations of all the stitches used. Priced of pattern, 10 cents.

All of the expert players sitting in the South position, without exception, opened the bidding with one heart. There is a growing tendency among the more advanced players to bid a four-card major before a five-card minor, especially when vulnerable, on hands of this type, the purpose being to avoid reversing the suits, which automatically "crowds the bidding" and does not allow an early "sign off." When South bid one heart West sensibly decided to trap, and therefore passed to await developments. North, of course, bid one spade; East passed, and South bid two diamonds. West, still trapping, passed again and North did likewise. East's holding, of course, does not justify reopening the bidding even on suspicion.

justify reopening the bidding even on suspicion.

At those tables, however, where South followed the so-called orthodox bidding methods, he opened the bidding with one diamond. Over West's trap pass North bid one spade, East passed and most of the South players now elected to bid two hearts. West figuratively smacked his lips and passed, feeling sure that the bidding would proceed further. North at this point was in a dilemma. He decidedly could not stand a four-card heart

RUTH FOWLER BROWN

by Ruth Fowler Brown, noted personality analvst, is different from any feature you've ever seen. It's vital, helpful and inspirational. It will daily hold your attention from beginning to end. And you will be given an opportunity to secure an analysis of your own handwriting.

A Genuine Analysis

You may have had your handwriting analyzed before. But don't confuse Ruth Fowler Brown with any other graphologist. She will not send you a multigraphed form picked out of a pile. She will not send you any so-called "key numbers." You will not be asked to look in the paper for "stock paragraphs" which may apply to every Tom, Dick and Mary. She will send you a GEN-UINE, individual, confidential, personally checked analysis of your own handwriting, mailed direct to you.

To Build Charm and Personality by Character Development

Let Her Analyze Your Handwriting and Point Out the TRUTH

Perhaps you may not like to hear the truth. But if it helps you to acquire personal charm, aids in building your personality, spurs you on toward success—then the truth is tremendously important to you.

Can a Man Be Charming?

Yes, says Ruth Fowler Brown. The man with charming manners and a winning personality travels the smoothest road to success. The charming woman is most certain of romance. Read Ruth Fowler Brown's vital articles about charm, personality and success.

ROBINS OUTLINES RUSSIAN HISTORY IN LECTURE HERE

Russia has paid for its revolution with a price that is beyond all computation. Colonel Raymond Robins, former American Red Cross commissioner to Russia, told a public assembly Monday in Sisters chapel, Spelman College campus. An audience of students. faculty members and friends listened to Colonel Robins' account of the fall of the Russian empire and the rise of the bolshevika in 1917-18, and of his return to the soviet union 15 years afterwards to find what he described as the greatest transformation in all history.

The Russian people, he declared, had paid fo rthe social and economic changes with a toll of death, misery, destruction of private property, loss of liberty and regimentation of life and thought, but, he added, the changes have come and the Russians think they are worth the cost.

BALBOA, C. Z., April 23.—(P)—
War-like activity gripped the 50 miles of the Panama canal today as the United States navy began a spectacular attempt to move its mighty fleet of 111 vessels from the Pacific to the Atlantic within 24 hours.

Forces of the United States army guarded docks and locks, lending an additional military touch to the feverish scene. A rigid censorship was established.

All commercial shipping was halted in preference to the fleet for the first time in history, and every available civilian pilot—all of whom are naval reserves—was pressed into service.
